WHAT ARE THE RISKS AND WHAT COULD I GET IN RETURN?Risk Indicator:

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as 6 out of 7, which is the second highest risk class.

The sub fund may use leverage, see Appendix II, section 3.2 page 78 of the Issuing Document.

There is a concentration risk due to limited shareholders.

The market price of securities may go up or down, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably. Securities may decline in value due to factors affecting securities markets generally or particular industries represented in the securities markets. The value of a security may decline due to general market conditions which are not specifically related to a particular company, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse shareholder sentiment generally. They may also decline due to factors which affect a particular industry or industries, such as labor shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions within an industry. During a general downturn in the securities markets, multiple asset classes may decline in value simultaneously.

The investment in the Sub-fund is speculative and involves a high degree of risk. Although the AIFM will attempt to manage or mitigate those risks through careful research and portfolio management, there can be no assurance that it will do so successfully.

There is a possibility of a total or partial loss of the invested capital.

Where the currency of the Company varies from the shareholder's home currency or where the Reference Currency of the Sub-fund varies from the currencies of the markets in which the Company invests, due to this foreign exchange risk exposure there is the prospect of additional loss (or the prospect of additional gain) to the shareholder, which is greater than the usual risks of investment.
